Groaning on a Bed of Agony

In the throes of rheumatism which has reached the inflammatory stage, the invalid has just cause to deplore the inefficiency of medicines which could neither uproot the disease at its outstart nor avert its dreaded climax. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is a medicine which without the danger attending the use of some of the ordinary specifics for this malady is infinitely more searching and effective. Used at the start, it checks the progress of the disease and expels or neutralizes the rheumatic virus in the blood. Who so takes it incurs no risk, and is sure to be benefitted. Valuable in rheumatism, it is equally efficacious as a remedy for neuralgia, liver complaint, indigestion, chills and fever, debility and inactivity of the kidneys and bladder. It may also be relied upon to promote sleep and appetite.

A Mob Relents and Cuts Down its Victim.

Henry George's Candidacy—Viola Cameron in Court—Another American Yacht Victory—Events in the Sporting World

SIBLEYVILLE, Mo., Oct. 1.—Ever since E. J. SENATOR SHERMAN ON THE SILVER QUESTION.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 1.—Senator Sherman visited the exposition this morning and this afternoon was received with enthusiasm by the chamber of commerce. In the course of a brief speech he said: "But the greatest question of all, perhaps, is the silver question—how to make the silver dollar equal to the gold dollar, for there should only be one standard. I have gone through one press of [illegible] Uncle Sam's money and I do not want to go through it again. You might put more silver in [illegible] dollar and make it equal to gold but then it would be too big [illegible] But any way it would be a good thing to go to work with. A dollar must be a dollar and a dollar's worth of silver must be put into it to make it a dollar. That is [illegible] If I had my way I would stop the coinage of the silver dollar, gather it into Uncle Sam's great vaults and then issue certificates [illegible] handle them. These certificates [illegible] national banks [illegible] I believe to be the best system [illegible] country. The tariff and other [illegible] issues would in great measure [illegible] themselves but the silver question is the great one of the future. One dollar of [illegible] is what we must have before we can have that stability [illegible] necessary to national security [illegible] success."

HENRY GEORGE'S CANDIDACY.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Rev. Dr. McGlynn of St. Stephen's Roman Catholic church, an earnest democrat and leader in the George movement, is reported to have said: "From information which comes from a very high source in Tammany, it is very probable that Tammany hall will nominate George. This comes to me from those in the very front rank of Tammany hall. [illegible] they will see the advisability [illegible] electing him against [illegible] whether [illegible] Tammany hall has not yet agreed [illegible] decided to nominate George but I know that several of the foremost leaders think it advisable and necessary."

A HOWL AGAINST ST. LOUIS

Returning Knights Templar Give the Place a Bad Name

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 1.—[illegible] great dissatisfaction among [illegible] Army men over the [illegible] of St. Louis as the place of the next national encampment. [illegible] Knights Templar [illegible] treatment they received in that city [illegible] Army [illegible] assume that a reception similar to that given the Knights awaits them. The Knights say that on every hand they were robbed and [illegible] the cold shoulder. Hotels and [illegible] combined in a general game to beat visitors. Many reports have been published of the inhospitality of the place but the Knights declare that the whole truth has not been told and what has been sent out is nothing to what actually happened.

Dr. James Simpson's statement was as follows: "California commandery had engaged quarters three months ahead at the Southern hotel and when we got there we found that we would be compelled to sleep three, five and eight in a room according to the size of the apartment, although we were charged [illegible] per day, while transient visitors to the hotel had far superior accommodations at the same hotel [illegible] per day. St. Louis storekeepers charged us double rates for everything. For example, a bottle of apollinaris water that could be bought in this city for 30 cents cost us [illegible] cents in St. Louis. Of course we had some emblem to distinguish us and they charged us accordingly. A knight had occasion to ride a short distance in a hack for which he was charged $2 50. Thinking the rate rather high, he took off his badge before entering the hack to return to the starting point and thus escaping recognition as a Knight was charged but $1 25 by the same hackman. The Knights of St. Louis tried to treat us well and we concede measurably [illegible] it is apparent that they do not understand the art of entertaining. Their street decorations were inconceivably poor. In fact leaving out the [illegible] festooned street lamps which are strung up in that city on every gala occasion, there was scarcely any attempt at decoration. Altogether the flags and [illegible] along the streets couldn't have cost as much as $1000."

Colonel J. M. Litchfield is particularly bitter against the St. Louis people. When asked for his opinion as to whether the place of the G. A. R. encampment should be changed he said: "From what I have heard I would not think for a moment [illegible] the Grand Army encampment if it is [illegible] in St. Louis. I had some idea of [illegible] the best authority I [illegible] that the new [illegible] half [illegible] the treatment the Knights received. [illegible]"

MORE ABOUT MILES'S REPORT

Trouble with Chinese Passengers—A Park for San Francisco's Children—Eruption of an Alaska Volcano—Coast Notes.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The Star to-night says: At the treasury department there seems to be no importance attached to a report that the president has offered the secretaryship of the treasury to Senator McPherson. It may be stated with certainty that Secretary Manning is going back to the treasury. He has decided to remain at the head of the department so long as his health will permit him to do so, even to the end of Mr. Cleveland's term. When members of Cleveland's cabinet accepted their appointments it was with the understanding that they [illegible] for the war [illegible] they would remain in the cabinet until the [illegible] The democratic administration is an experiment and many serious [illegible] the exercise and stability was necessary. It was important that there should be no breaking up of the cabinet [illegible] to work together [illegible] democratic measures and make the administration a success. Of course such a calamity as the illness of Mr. Manning was not taken into consideration. When he was in such a critical condition that it was uncertain whether or not he would ever recover and he was obliged to leave the department it seemed as though his retirement could not be avoided. Consequently his resignation was sent in. Now he has apparently recovered his health and he is willing and desires to stand by the ship and see the administration through if his physical condition will admit of it. He would put himself to great personal inconvenience to do this. His absence would be a serious loss to the cabinet and Mr. Cleveland would feel it keenly. Of course as a friend Cleveland would not urge [illegible] strongly [illegible] if it involved injury to his health but he will do all he can to retain his services without taxing his strength. It may be said with certainty that Mr. Manning will take up [illegible] Those who are in a position to be [illegible] do not think that Senator McPherson will be secretary of the treasury [illegible] Mr. Manning [illegible] that his retirement from active life is necessary [illegible]

GEN. MILES'S REPORT

His Terms to Geronimo now Understood to be Exceedingly Liberal

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The annual report of Gen. Miles is still in the hands of the president and has been the subject of a brief conference to-day between himself and Secretary Endicott but it is understood that no line of action has yet been decided upon in regard to that portion relating to the surrender of Geronimo. While the text of the report is not yet accessible for publication it is known that in respect to that matter Gen. Miles does not explain himself to the satisfaction of the authorities and that his granting of conditions which are now understood to be even more liberal than has heretofore been supposed is a subject of embarrassment and perplexity. Without saying [illegible] terms [illegible] gathered from Gen. Miles [illegible] expression [illegible] that an agreement was made that the lives of the prisoners should be spared and that they should be removed at once from Arizona. [illegible] Miles [illegible] orders. The only reason suggested for this course in the absence of any satisfactory statement on the point from Gen. Miles is a fear that if he did not secure the prisoners in this way they would make terms with and surrender themselves to the Mexicans. This would have rendered the [illegible] apparently less credible to the Americans. In this state of affairs there seems to be nothing [illegible] the authorities can do for the punishment of the prisoners, except to keep them permanently as prisoners of war. Even should the civil authorities of Arizona demand them for trial with the most positive proof of murder ready for presentation [illegible] the administration would be [illegible]

TROUBLE WITH CHINESE PASSENGERS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 1.—The captains of vessels returning from the salmon canneries of Alaska have been having a great deal of trouble with Chinamen returning from work. In several cases there have been threats of violence and the white crews have been terrorized generally by heathen passengers. It was found necessary by some vessels to disarm the Chinamen before allowing them to go on board.

Just before the Courtney Ford arrived in port recently, seventy two Chinese in the forepeak steerage rose en masse over a dispute about fire wood. They swarmed on deck, and demanded the lives of the second mate and one seaman, who had first resisted them, at the same time arming themselves with belaying pins and billets of wood. Twenty six white men on board armed themselves and prepared for a desperate fight, but through the efforts of the captain a collision was avoided.

The officers of the Sadie F. Caller also had trouble in taking their Chinamen aboard in Alaska and the coolies have been spoiling for a fight on nearly every ship that has arrived from Alaska this season.

A PARK FOR CHILDREN.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 1.—The statement is published that the park commissioners have given up the idea of erecting a magnificent gateway at the entrance to the Golden Gate park with the legacy of $[illegible]0,000 left by the late Wm. Sharon. They propose instead to establish a children's park which will be situated in one of the most picturesque parts of the ground. Among the features of the proposed park will be a fine breed of milch cows whose product is to be furnished free to children, swings, flying horses, lawn tennis grounds, and many other attractions. When the park is completed it will be called Sharon park in honor of the memory of the man who made so liberal a donation. The commissioners have $68,000 in possession to carry on the work and they estimate that the [illegible] cost will be about $60,000.

THE CANADIAN PACIFIC.

[illegible] It is beginning to be felt by [illegible] people and shippers that the Canadian Pacific is commencing to make itself felt in the San Francisco freight market. Mr. [illegible] states that a considerable amount of freight is being sent on that line [illegible] low rates and the time of [illegible] here and Boston are causing [illegible] the Canadian road [illegible] confident that before long this road will be an important factor in determining rates from [illegible] and that the American roads will have to take some notice of it. It has been suggested that competition will compel the formation of three pools in order that all conflicting interests may be harmonized.

[illegible] ALARMED.

A project [illegible] this city on the 26 inst. a meeting of Eastern passenger agents, to discuss California business is looked upon with great interest by local passenger agents. That some very important questions will then be debated and perhaps solved is undoubted. It is believed that this question is the abolition of all local agents of Eastern lines and concentration of the business of all Eastern roads in the hands of an agency composed of the Southern Pacific company and the Atlantic & Pacific.

AFTER A DIAMOND SNUFF BOX.

Frederick W. Sharon and Frank Newlands have petitioned the probate court for distribution to them of a snuff box inlaid with diamonds belonging to the estate of Frederick Zeile and which the latter bequeathed to the late Wm. Sharon. The snuff box is now in Reutlinger, Germany. It is valued at 9,000 marks or about $4,700 and will be surrendered on presentation of the proper decree from this court.

AN INSURANCE RUMOR DENIED.

There was a rumor on the street to-day that marine insurance companies were beginning to charge extra rates or "war risks" on account of European complications but agents of the principal insurance companies in the city deny the truth of the rumor stating that they do not consider the situation any more critical than for the past year.

THE CHARLESTON FUND.

There is now $16,290 in bank to the credit of the Charleston relief fund. A considerable part of this has been there for some time and while the greatest need for the money exists at Charleston no desire is apparent to make prompt remittances [illegible] No reason has been given for holding [illegible] back.

ALASKA

ERUPTION OF A VOLCANO.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 1.—A letter published in the Bulletin under date of Kodiak, Alaska, Sept. [illegible] says the volcanic peak Pavloff, a mountain 500 miles southwest of that place on the Alaska peninsula, is in eruption. Slight falls of volcanic dust resembling emery powder have been observed. Capt. Curtis of the schooner Kodiak reports that August [illegible] when 160 miles from the volcano his vessel was enveloped in a smoke cloud. The darkness was so great that lamps were kept burning from 10 A. M. till [illegible] P. M. At the same time black dust fell upon the deck to the depth of several inches. Capt. Abbey of the United States steamer Corwin, who arrived there August 21, brought samples of the dust and reported having heard a noise like thunder while passing near the volcano. No earthquake shocks had been reported thus far in connection with the outbreak.

PORTLAND, SATURDAY, OCT. 2, 1886.

FAILURES AT SAN FRANCISCO.

Recent heavy business failures at San Francisco are the consequence of changes in the business conditions of the city, growing out of the building of the Northern Pacific and Southern Pacific railroads. Before these roads were completed San Francisco enjoyed a monopoly of the jobbing business of the coast. She now has only her immediate field and the ocean business which she had before, and although these are large and growing rapidly, her trade has fallen off greatly. It was evident three years ago that the trade organization of San Francisco, created by conditions prevailing when the Central Pacific was the only transcontinental road, and before the Southeast and Northwest were able to buy in the East on their own account, was far out of proportion to the business of the city. Since that time there has been a struggle for survival, and the weaker houses in many lines have either gone into liquidation or have failed. The process of adjustment is still far from complete, and there must be many more retirements before the mercantile interest of San Francisco is on a natural and wholesome footing.

Any city which is simply a mart, a trading place merely, is in danger of just such misfortune as that which has befallen San Francisco. Their fate depends at all times upon conditions which they may not be able to control. New railroads or the opening of waterways, or a change in tariffs—either of these, or other casualties, may change the relations of a jobbing center with the country upon which it depends for support, and seriously impair or utterly destroy its business. Such cities are founded on the sand. But a city which has stable resources in its manufactures, which commands business from far and near, and which lives not by accident of circumstances likely to change at any time, is in a different position. Such a city is founded on a rock. San Francisco will not fall nor decline, but it will have a long and severe season of hard times, because its men of business in the years of prosperity depended almost solely on selling for profit and gave no attention to the building up of productive enterprises.

Portland should profit by the experience of her greater neighbor. She is menaced by changes similar to those which curtailed the trade of San Francisco three years ago. So far as the jobbing trade of this country is concerned she has only one advantage over half a dozen other points—that growing out of an established trade organization and the possession of large business capital. On many sides we are likely to meet a new and severe opposition. Certainly in this situation we ought to look to those things that will make our position absolutely secure. In other words, we ought to set up factories and make here a center of production as well as a center of trade.

WHAT TIME HAS WROUGHT.

Twenty-five years of politics bring some curious changes. In 1861 John A. Andrew, the ablest and most radical anti-slavery republican in New England, was governor of Massachusetts. He died in 1867, still firm in the faith of his party, although a warm advocate of most generous and kindly treatment of the South. To-day Gov. Andrew's son, John F. Andrew, is the candidate of the democratic party for governor of Massachusetts. Young Andrew was, we believe, a mugwump recruit to the democracy in 1884; he has inherited all of his great father's integrity and manliness, and much of his talent, for he is an able lawyer, and the Springfield Republican predicted some time ago that if Andrew was nominated he would poll a very large vote, as against Ames, who was likely to get the republican nomination. Indeed, the election of young Andrew is not altogether improbable. In 1884 Cleveland and Butler received together in Massachusetts 146,737 votes (122,352 and 24,382), or 10 more than Blaine received, while the highest St. John vote was 9923. Last year Gov. Robinson had 112,243, Prince had 90,346, Lothrop 4711, Sumner [illegible]. A change of less than 12,000 votes on last year's vote would elect Andrew. Andrew will poll all the mugwump vote and probably a very considerable number of republicans, who will vote for him as the worthy son of a famous sire. There is a strong faction of orthodox republicans who are opposed to Ames as a mere moneybag nomination and not an altogether high-minded moneybag at that. The nomination of Andrew by the political party his great father so cordially detested and distrusted that he refused the offer of military service on the part of Caleb Cushing, is proof how greatly parties have changed in composition and purpose in twenty-five years. Cushing had made an eloquent war speech in 1861 before he offered his services to his state, and still Gov. Andrew officially answered him that his previous political character and sentiments had been such that in justice to the cause he dared not trust him. Gov. Andrew had an equal detestation and distrust of Butler, but the war found Butler an officer of the state militia, and by virtue of his office he accompanied the troops to Baltimore and Andrew could not prevent it; but from first to last Andrew was at war with Butler and never believed in him. Andrew saw in the career of Cushing and Butler a dreary lack of public moral sense; an absence of disinterestedness, loftiness of soul and loyalty to principle. To Cushing and Butler, in Andrew's judgment, there were no such things as public causes. To Andrew the United States was a country for which he was ready to nobly fight or grandly die, while to Cushing and Butler Andrew believed that a great country or a great cause was only a client. To them party was only a choice of hunting ground, while to Andrew a party was an aspiration for true and wise government, incarnated and organized to enact justice and humanity and to defend its flag against all foes.

But the twenty-five years that have come and gone since Gov. Andrew dreaded and distrusted the democracy of Massachusetts, as represented by Caleb Cushing and Ben Butler, have wrought many wonderful changes. Many old-time burning issues are burnt out, or are at best only the flickering flame that flashes fitfully from dying embers, and Gov. Andrew's son is not the only republican apostate from the ranks of the "grand old party," which his famous father helped to found, for the democracy. Butler, a radical republican for more than fifteen years from the closing of the war, has resumed his place in the democratic ranks, and has once been elected governor. Francis W. Bird, T. W. Higginson, Charles Sumner, Horace Greeley, Charles Francis Adams, Andrew G. Curtin, Lyman Trumbull, George William Curtis, William H. Seward and Henry J. Raymond, all radical anti-slavery champions in 1861, some dead and some still among the living, managed after the war to become identified with the opposition to the "grand old party" they helped to found and maintain for the first twelve or fifteen years of its existence.

The curious thing is that the eminent war democrats who joined the republican party in 1861 have, with few exceptions, stuck to the republican ranks. The eminent backsliders have come chiefly from the ranks of the radical anti-slavery republicans, who never were democrats, but generally of free soil or anti-slavery whig antecedents. The explanation of this lies chiefly in the fact that the same fearless independence of party lines, the same indifference to the dictation of the majority which led them originally to join the republican party in its days of adversity from 1854 to 1860 made them prompt to kick out of the traces of the "grand old party" when they became dissatisfied with its drift. There is no disguising the fact that since 1872 the republican party has been slowly but surely losing by a sort of scaling off process. The secession of Greeley and Sumner and Adams in 1872 was the first serious defection. In 1874 there was increasing discontent shown by the democratic tidal wave in the congressional elections of that year. The victory of Tilden in New York in 1876 and the contested presidential election of that year showed that the "disease" was spreading from state to state. The imprudent frankness of Hancock concerning the tariff, and his telegraphic congratulation of the greenback party in Maine, frightened the democratic capitalists in New York into supporting Garfield in 1880, and by a long pull and a strong pull, and a pull all together on the part of Conkling and Grant, saved the state and elected Garfield; and yet it was almost a "scratch" victory, as they say in billiards, at the last. It was clearly evident then that even when the republicans were a unit in action they had no votes to spare. Garfield, with prudence, could probably have restored the party to an era of good feeling, but he was not statesman enough to see his duty and do it, and within three months after his inauguration he had hopelessly extinguished the fairest prospects of party reconciliation and unity for the future. From that day the republican party was doomed to defeat in 1884. The defeat of Blaine needs no other explanation; he was knocked down by the recoil of the gun he loaded and aimed for Garfield to fire at Conkling in 1881. Since 1872 the drift of the party has been toward disintegration rather than accretion, and John F. Andrew, son of one of the greatest lights in the history of the republican party, standing as the candidate of the democratic party in Massachusetts for the seat his father so gloriously filled, is one of the most significant proofs of what a violent change time has worked and is working with the old political parties of the nation.

It will be remembered that a few weeks back the county court of Union county applied for a writ of injunction restraining the commissioners of the Pine creek road from paying over to the contractors of that road certain sums claimed to have been earned. The commissioners were desirous of paying over the money, and joined with the contractors in the effort to defeat the injunction. However, on Tuesday last Judge Ison, of the state circuit court, rendered a decision sustaining the injunction. A well-known citizen of Union county writes us that Judge Ison's decision was listened to with interest by all the members of the local bar and by many others, and that it is generally approved. There is much conflicting testimony and much mystery about this Pine creek road enterprise, and we hope to see the matter investigated thoroughly before the final payments are made.

It is only right to say that the communication which we print this morning respecting the letting of a contract for furnishing the new hall of representatives in the state house at Salem, is supplied by an interested party. Both sides of the story should be heard before any opinion is formed respecting the matter. The officers to whom the contract was let ought to be able to explain the seeming unfairness of their action.

Mr. St. John, the apostle of the political prohibitionists, says the republican party will not carry ten states in 1888. Perhaps it will not; but how many the prohibitionists will carry he wisely refrains from predicting.

Chronic grumblers have been saying that the managers of the O. P. road wanted the city to buy the road, but the investment of $30,000 in Albany real estate with a possibility of $100,000 more, looks as though the company was endeavoring to buy the city. The money promised for the purchase of the lands upon which it is proposed to build the company's works has about all been raised, and to-day will in all probability be presented to the company's managers, and by them accepted. In that event the city will rapidly build up, as the company will invest much money in their buildings and employment will be given to many workmen.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

OREGON HUMANE SOCIETY.—The executive board of this society held its quarterly meeting on Thursday evening at the residence of W. T. Shanahan. As the general public hear but little of the work of this society (save at its annual meeting) it may be well to mention the fact that nearly every day brings its work and through the vigilance of the officers and the strong arm of the law every reported case is investigated and dealt with as it demands. During the quarter ending September 30 the total number of cases reported was [illegible], consisting of cruelty to children and animals, all of which would have been forgotten and the offenders escaped unpunished were it not for the promptness, interference and protection which this humane society affords. Prevention of cruelty alone is by no means the limit of its work. Rapid strides are being made in the line of education. A tender regard for all living creatures is being instilled into the minds of our children through these societies. Our schools throughout the land have taken up this humane sentiment and teach its kindly influence as an important part of their curriculum. The exercises at the high school a short time since consisted of recitations and quotations pertaining to animals. The impressions there received will not soon fade away. Every person seemed delighted in listening to the kindly sentiments culled from the poets of many lands and were astonished also to find so vast and profitable an amount of literature teaching kindness to all living creatures. The Oregon Humane society is doing a noble and praiseworthy work. Some of our best men and women are interested in its welfare, yet it needs the support of every citizen. This may be done by becoming a member, the cost of which is only $1 per year, or $10 for life membership.

DEPRAVED DOG.—The intelligence and sagacity of that truest friend of man—the dog—have often been extolled, but Deputy Poundmaster Wilmer has a dog who, while exhibiting great sagacity, at the same time gives evidence of such heartless depravity that he seems a living walking evidence of the truthfulness of the old proverb, "Evil communications corrupt good manners." This dog, which looks like a red Irish setter but is [illegible] shepherd dog, accompanies Wilmer on his dog-catching excursions and so thoroughly understands the wishes and intentions of his master that whenever Wilmer [illegible] at a dog, this depraved cur [illegible] throws it down and holds it till Wilmer's assistant throws his net over it. If the dog wanted is too large to be thrown down this renegade engages him in conversation and if necessary picks a quarrel with him, distracting his attention till the fatal net is thrown. As the wagon is gradually filled with captured dogs, this wicked canine appears to rejoice in their misfortunes. Such utter heartlessness in respect to his fellow dogs is probably the result of association with Wilmer, in whom this trait is commendable, but it ought to assign this dog to the hottest corner in the canine hades.

INTERESTING DECISION.—In the state circuit court yesterday in the case of Lizzie Gee vs. Sarah M. Millar, Mary Haugg, R. H. McMillan and Mary Haugg, Judge Stearns yesterday decided that Lizzie Gee had a vendor's lien in 171.[illegible] acres of land on the east side near Mt. Tabor, for $1[illegible], and that the same be sold to satisfy the lien, subject to redemption by defendants. According to all accounts, on December 10, 1885, Mr. May, Mrs. Gee's father, sold the land to R. H. McMillan and N. Haugg, the deed being made out to Sarah M. Millar and Mary Haugg, their wives. Mrs. Gee held an interest in the property amounting to $1,[illegible]0, and for this R. H. McMillan and N. Haugg executed their promissory note unindorsed. When the note became due the signers of it were unable to pay it, so Mrs. Gee commenced civil proceedings. The court's decision is virtually that the note is worthless and was when given, and consequently Mrs. Gee is entitled to a lien of the property. In case the property is sold any balance remaining after the $1,[illegible]50 interest and costs of court is satisfied goes to the defendants. No defense was interposed, although the note was not denied, the makers simply giving it out that they owed but couldn't pay.

MRS. KEYS SUES PERRY G. BAKER.—Suit has been instituted in the state circuit court by Mrs. M. E. Keys against Perry G. Baker. For cause of action Mrs. Keys alleges that on September 13 Baker seized and laid hold of her with his left hand by the back of the neck and then with his right fist struck her a great many violent blows and strokes upon her head, face and eyes, and cut a great gash in and upon her lips and mouth, and thereby blackened her eyes, bruised her head and knocked the filling out of one of her teeth, by means of which the plaintiff was greatly hurt, bruised, wounded and injured and became sick and had to call in a physician. Plaintiff alleges she suffered great pain and was hindered and prevented from performing her household duties and affairs necessary by her to be performed and transacted, to her great damage in the sum of $[illegible]00. Also that by reason of the wounds and injuries received plaintiff was forced and obliged and did employ two physicians and did pay out and expend large sums of money. Wherefore she prays judgment and for costs, etc.

SAILORS CHARGE [illegible] A CAPTAIN.—Daniel Rankin and a dozen other sailors on board the British ship Don yesterday filed a libel against said ship in the U. S. district court to recover wages due and to have their contract with the master dissolved. They allege that in the voyage from Melbourne to this port the captain was intoxicated most of the time and frequently put a revolver to the heads of one or the other of them and threatened to blow their brains out, and that he also had a big knife which he carried in their presence and expressed his intention of using on them, and that he and the mate threaten to make it hot for them on the homeward voyage, and that they are afraid of their lives if they sail on the vessel. Wherefore they pray that they may be allowed to leave the ship and have their wages paid up to this time. If all the allegations made against the captain are true he is a regular ripsnorter.

ADJUDGED INSANE.—Two days ago Andrew Carlson, a rag picker, was arrested at Eleventh and M streets by Policeman Ellwanger as insane. Yesterday Carlson was examined by County Judge Catlin and Drs. C. C. Strong and G. M. Wells and ordered committed to the insane asylum at Salem. The commitment papers state that Carlson is a single man 44 years of age and a native of Sweden. He has been in the United States since 1868 and came here several years ago from Texas. On his arrival here Carlson went to work on the railroad and subsequently took up land in Eastern Oregon, which he afterwards abandoned for the reason that it became flooded. The cause of his insanity is unknown. He imagines that he is influenced by spirits and that to drive them away he must say prayers three times a day and drink whisky. He has been drinking a good deal of late.

A COW CASE.—Last August H. F. McMillan impounded some cows belonging to Fallon, in East Portland, and released them on Fallon agreeing to pay him $25. Fallon claimed his boys were herding the cows and refused to pay and McMillan sued him in Justice Bullock's court and got judgment for $2[illegible].85 and Fallon then appealed to the state circuit court and set up that when McMillan impounded the cows he did not care for them properly and by reason of the improper care taken of the cows they were damaged to the extent of $200, wherefore Fallon asked judgment. The case was tried yesterday before a jury in Judge Shattuck's court and a verdict rendered for McMillan for the $25 originally sued for.

MONTANA WHITE FISH.—A lot of white fish was received here yesterday from Wm. F. [illegible] of Heron, Montana, who says the white fish commenced to run about two weeks ago and are very numerous now. There is great sport fishing for them. They are caught with bait. [illegible] strike [illegible] them. They are [illegible] as game as a trout and harder to drown. The fish sent are about ten inches long and are precisely similar to those caught in Mill creek [illegible] white fish [illegible] white fish. Will Mr. [illegible] kindly furnish some information as to what a stroke [illegible] striking [illegible] is. No one in this section knows.

CASE DISMISSED.—In Justice Tuttle's court yesterday a charge against Annie Lafferty of the larceny of a pawn ticket for a watch and chain belonging to her husband, Joseph Lafferty, was dismissed. Lafferty is suing his wife for a divorce and the pair have separated. Mrs. Lafferty it appears did take the pawn ticket but the defendant [illegible] when he made out the complaint understood that the court had been divorced. The case was dismissed even before all the evidence had been submitted, for the reason that [illegible] a wife cannot steal from her husband. Besides, she alleged that the watch belonged to her.

WHO DOES IT?—For some time past large shipments of canned tomatoes have been made from here to points in the upper country which are labeled "Fresh Oregon Tomatoes," and purport to be put up by "The Northwestern Packing Co., Portland, Oregon." A rigid inquiry fails to reveal the headquarters or cannery of the firm. The Portland label is pasted over that of a San Francisco house. Local canners enjoy a "local manufacture" rate, which enables them to compete successfully with California goods, and the trick of course is only played to take advantage of the reduced freight.

PINING FOR SHORTER HOURS.—Now that the short days have come, when darkness begins to spread its pall over this fair land several hours earlier than in the summer months, the employes of the general office of the O. R. & N. Co. are anxiously hoping for a return to their former hours of labor, 8:30 to [illegible]0. The Saturday half holiday ended with the month of September, and Saturday will be a long day during the winter. For the boys' sakes it is to be hoped the change will be made and that they will not have to break fast by lamp or gaslight for the next seven months.

WANTED SATISFACTION.—James McFarland, Ben Stewart and Frank Higby were brought down from Eugene City yesterday by a deputy U. S. marshal and locked up in the county jail to await examination on a charge of selling liquor to Indians. It is only five days since McFarland was released from the county jail, he having just finished serving out a sentence for the same offense. The present case it is said grew out of a quarrel between the McFarland, Higby and Stewart families, resulting in each informing on the other for satisfaction's sake.

WINTER ENTERTAINMENT.—Great interest centers in the course of entertainments now being arranged under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian association, eight in number, to be given in the tabernacle, each evening presenting three distinct programmes, commencing at 7:30 sharp and closing at [illegible]:30 sharp. Charles Dudley of New York gives the opening entertainment next Friday. Tickets have been placed at the low price of $1 for the whole course. They will be on sale Tuesday morning.

BASEBALL.—The Stars and Portlands play at the Oaks to-morrow afternoon, weather permitting. There will be extra attractions in the way of foot racing, longest throw of baseball, best base running, etc., prizes to be awarded to the successful competitors. This will be the last game of the season of 1886, and is a testimonial to the veteran manager, Joe Buchtel, by the members of the clubs.

CASES YET BEFORE THE GRAND JURY.—The present grand jury have about finished their labors and will shortly file their report. They have yet several cases to pass upon, among them the hog ranch nuisance, a matter which comes up every term, two gambling cases, Kelly's case, a number of [illegible] from bar hatchet wash bowl attempts to [illegible] with a dangerous weapon cases, and one where a fellow named Johnson is accused of [illegible] a forged check for $[illegible], and another young fellow of stealing a horse. A Chinaman named Lee Yip has been indicted for violating the state law passed at the special session which prohibits the smoking of opium, sale of prepared opium, etc. The law has been held to be good by the United States court and several circuit courts. Trindle is held on an old indictment, found before he was arrested and brought back from San Francisco. The trial of what criminal cases there are on hand will be proceeded with shortly.

DEATH OF AN OLD RESIDENT.—Mrs. Mary Ann Burke, one of Portland's oldest residents, died last night at her home, 134 Salmon street near Seventh, of consumption, with which she had been ailing for three years. Mrs. Burke was the relict of the late Thomas Burke, and at the time of her death was [illegible] years of age. She crossed the plains in 18[illegible] from St. Louis, being six months and eight days on the trip, and took up her residence on the block where she so peacefully passed away, at a time when it was surrounded by an almost unbroken forest, and there she lived continuously for thirty-four years. Mrs. Burke had a host of friends who will be pained to hear of her demise. She was a native of the county Derry, Ireland. Due notice will be given of the funeral.

BECOMING FEROCIOUS.—The handsome young black bear lately on exhibition at a Morrison street game store was purchased by a butcher, who took it out to his slaughter house, thinking to fatten it for his Christmas display. A diet of flesh has made the animal ferocious, and the man who feeds it now has to stand at a distance and throw the meat to it. It is so ugly that when a [illegible] pig comes within reach of its paws it [illegible] it, and if it gets hold [illegible], and by the use of teeth and claws effectually [illegible]. A wild bear flees at the sight of man, but familiarity breeds contempt, and a bear [illegible] with man soon loses his respect for him. This one will probably not arrive at maturity.

MYSTERIOUS CAVE.—[illegible] Belgian pavement [illegible] street about [illegible] feet in diameter [illegible] yesterday [illegible] the vicinity [illegible] out of the [illegible] Wiggins [illegible] his way up from the cavity in the bowels of the earth, where he had been laying wires for the [illegible] street [illegible] was not such an unreasonable [illegible] for Wiggins [illegible] the great [illegible] Bill Bradon was [illegible] cavity. It appears that [illegible] sewer.

JAIL DELIVERY AT OREGON CITY.—H. H. Kitchen, who was held for murdering a man at his cabin, and John Mann, for shooting a fellow workman near Aurora last summer, escaped from the county jail at Oregon City last Monday night. They sawed through one of the bars of iron of the grating in front of the windows and then bent the bar to one side with a stick of wood, making a space 10x12 inches, through which they crawled. The saw was made from a common case knife supposed to have been passed to the prisoners by friends on the outside. This is the second time Mann has escaped. He was recaptured the last time working in a harvest field near Molalla.

SUNDAY MERCURY.—The publishers of the Sunday Mercury to-morrow will issue an edition of [illegible]000 copies, of eight pages, containing seventy-two columns. The paper will with that number enter upon its eighteenth volume. It will contain entirely original matter on subjects of interest to the people of this country, and its circulation will be general throughout Oregon, Washington territory and Idaho.

BRIEF MENTION

Evening service is resumed Oct. 3 in the Unitarian chapel.

Great attractions at the Tivoli are on this week and more coming.

License to wed was issued yesterday for David Ross and H. Anderson, and George H. Davidson and Julia Cupp.

Wm. Dunbar was driven down town yesterday for the first time since his illness. He is still quite weak but is improving rapidly.

The Oregon Presbytery of the Cumberland Presbyterian church will meet at Fairfield, Marion county, on Friday, October 15, at 11 o'clock A. M.

The only case in the police court yesterday was that of C. W. Weber, charged with using abusive language to Mrs. Green. It was set for trial to-day.

A slight collision occurred between the Dixie Thompson and the Salem last evening which will necessitate the laying up of the latter for a few days for repairs.

It is said that if Kelly, about to be tried in the state circuit court for murder, had had the selection of the jury in his case himself he could hardly have picked one to suit him better. The district attorney has about as much hope of convicting Kelly as he has of converting him.

A sample of peaches taken from a seedling raised in the garden of F. Bickel on Ash street was left at this office yesterday. They would be considered fine in any state, and go to prove what THE OREGONIAN has often stated, that peaches of the best quality can be produced in Oregon.

A cutting affray occurred at Lafayette on Monday evening last. A big husky fellow named John French undertook to thrash Charley Nelson, a much smaller man than himself, and while he had Nelson down the latter got out his pocket knife and cut a gash in French's arm. This put an end to the row.

R. McDonald has commenced suit in the state circuit court against the City of Salem company to recover a balance due of $14,831.16 on a promissory note for $[illegible]0,000, executed by defendants to plaintiff August 14, 1885, payable to the order of the Oregon and Washington Mortgage Savings bank of Oregon, three days after date.

Justice Tuttle yesterday decided the case wherein a servant girl sued a hotel keeper for $8, the balance of a month's wages, in favor of the plaintiff and taxed the costs to the defendant. The girl claimed she was hired by the month and discharged before its expiration without cause, and was therefore entitled to a full month's pay. She got her money.

Deputy U. S. Marshal Johnson, of The Dalles, yesterday brought down F. J. McLeod and F. H. Taffe, who run the McLeod fishery at Celilo, and who had been arrested on a charge of disposing of manufactured tobacco without having first paid the special tax required by law. The matter is probably the result of some misunderstanding by the parties of the provisions of the law in regard to revenue license.

THE EAST SIDE

Y. M. C. A. MEETING.

The board of managers of the Young Men's Christian association of East Portland desire to meet all young men connected with it at their rooms in the Hawthorne block on Tuesday evening next at [illegible] o'clock. The object of the meeting is to reorganize the association and to make arrangements for a [illegible] to [illegible] the interest of the association. Since the secretary, Mr. [illegible], went East the rooms have been kept open by other members, but the work cannot be satisfactorily done without a permanent secretary. The members of the board are desirous that a full attendance be had in order to discuss these matters fully and freely.

COMPANY [illegible] RECEPTION.

The annual reception and ball of Company [illegible] of this city took place at their armory last night. A large number of the friends of the company on both sides the river and Albina being present. Parson & Gray's orchestra of [illegible] pieces furnished excellent music. The grand march was formed at [illegible] o'clock and dancing was continued until past midnight, and a most enjoyable evening was had by all present.

REV. FATHER [illegible] LECTURE.

"Who can forgive sins but God only?" will be the subject of a lecture by Rev. Father [illegible] at St. Francis church to-morrow evening at [illegible] o'clock. The proceeds will be devoted to church improvements, which have been very extensive during the past year.

NOTES.

Mr. A. W. Atterberry, night policeman, who has been visiting friends in Washington county, returned to his home in this city a few days since and has since been taken sick with an attack of diphtheria.

The contract of the East Portland Gas company with the city for lighting the streets having expired on the last day of September, no lamps were lighted last night, and those of our citizens who were not fortunate enough to own a lantern had to grope their way in the dark. How long this state of affairs will last it is impossible to say, but probably until next May, when the evenings are short.

THE PUGET SOUND COLLECTOR

It probably was a surprise to many of the people of Washington territory to learn that Quincy A. Brooks had been appointed collector of customs at Port Townsend. It is not probable that many of the present inhabitants of the territory know that Mr. Brooks was a pioneer there, yet such is the fact. Mr. Brooks has been absent from the territory a good many years, and consequently is not so generally known there as in Oregon. Twenty-two years ago he resided in Portland and for the last fifteen years or more he has been a resident of the southern part of the state. He has a record for efficient service in several official positions and will undoubtedly perform his duties as collector of customs with intelligence and credit.

For information of those who have come into Washington territory since Mr. Brooks was a resident there, it may be stated that he is a native of Washington county, Pa., graduated at the Western university of that state in the same class with Senator McMillan of Minnesota, crossed the plains to Oregon and settled at Puget sound in 18[illegible]. Old settlers will remember his "donation claim" near Olympia. He moved back to Oregon in 1857. Was special agent of the postoffice department during the administration of President Johnson and was quartermaster general of the Oregon mounted militia during the Modoc Indian war. He is a democrat in politics, but did not co-operate with that party during the war. Among those who recommended his appointment as collector at Port Townsend were many prominent men of Oregon, of both parties. Mr. Brooks is about 56 years of age, is owner of the hot springs at Lickville, and is understood to be in fairly prosperous circumstances. His eldest son graduated at West Point in June last, and is now a lieutenant in the Eighth cavalry.

THE IMMIGRATION BOARD—A REPLY

Hon. John I. Daley, Dallas, Polk Co., Oregon—Dear Sir: Yours of the 9th asking for certain facts and figures has been received. The subject matter of this letter recalls the statements set forth in your card in THE OREGONIAN of Sept. [illegible], and we deem it proper enough to embody here a public reply to the communication. Without quoting the exact language of your card, it implies that the State Board has not fulfilled its promise towards your county, because, as it stated, it has not sent any of the new comers to that locality. This same argument has been used by the Itemizer published in your city, and yet you must be aware that the chief objection to the board, as made by people of Eastern Oregon and in that county and in others on the east, is that it does send immigrants to this or to that locality. The truth is, the board does not send immigrants anywhere; that is, it does not attempt to prejudice them favorably or unfavorably by expressions of individual or official opinion or views, and whatever the decision of the new comer the board is in no wise responsible for it. As has been stated time and again, if the immigrant has made choice of locality, and in nine cases out of ten he has, it is learned as a reply to the first question asked him, and the choice is not questioned at all. General information is given him, tickets are furnished, and he is sent on his way. It should be very evident to you that if this board had pursued a course contrary to this, of being thus wholly impartial, it would have been rightly open to the severest criticism. If it attempted to use what of power and influence it possessed to change the mind and choice of new comers, you can see at once that it would not only lose the confidence of our own people, but of the immigrant as well, and by him be condemned and publicly. As a practical business man and one familiar with public affairs you can see that it was necessary for the board to make rules and regulations at the start to govern this work, and that it would have been phenomenal if these rules had not conflicted with the views and opinions of many people throughout the state. But these rules were made in a spirit of the utmost fairness and impartiality, and they have been adhered to in the belief that their results would greatly benefit the state as a whole. In the literature issued by the board it has been the aim to have each county written up by a local writer, and every county has been asked for literature of its own and also for specimen products for these rooms.

You must admit that if your county has not had as you claim a full share of the immigration coming into the Willamette valley, the state board is not responsible.

During the first year of the existence of the board your county had but [illegible] in the newspaper [illegible] and but few samples of grain. You must acknowledge that this shows that the people of Polk county have not certainly shown the [illegible] spirit that was due. Further, the board has issued several circular letters calling for subscriptions for pamphlets for cordial co-operative work on the part of the counties, yet to them not a single response came from your county. During the last half year we have had a pamphlet on file and a paper, both of which have been judiciously used. Your county has had no immigration society and no local agent to whose care immigrants could be sent. Besides, Dallas is off of the main line of the O. & C., and the board has [illegible] reduced rates on the narrow gauge. We are assured that when this road has direct connection with Portland the company will grant new comers the reduced rates accorded by the O. & C. company. We feel that when you come to take all these things into consideration, and especially the fact that it is not the purpose of the board to send new comers anywhere, and that when they leave these rooms we lose sight of them altogether, you will, in all justness and fairness, exonerate this board from even the implication of discrimination in the work of immigration, and be willing to admit that Polk county has not made an effort commensurate with her advantages and her position in the state.

The board has labored under a good deal of disadvantage in not having at their rooms a pamphlet descriptive of every county in the state and prepared by local writers thoroughly acquainted with all its advantages, and is it not highly probable that the want of this special advertising will account in a great measure for the complained of lack of immigration into Polk county? The fact that those counties which in this, and in various ways, have made their locality prominent in the eyes of the public, have been greatly benefited by immigration would seem to emphasize this point.

As a reply to the questions in your letter of the [illegible]th we have to say that the books and records of the board are open during the business hours of each day to all who have any reason to look into them, and a secretary is here who will afford the inquirer after fact and truth every facility for getting at it. We hope that you will find time to make an examination, as many other gentlemen interested and prejudiced against the board have done, knowing that if you do so what you find will make you as it has made them, cordial advocates of the whole system.

CHARLES H. DODD,
President for the Board.

AS TO THE CONTRACT FOR FURNISHING THE HALL OF REPRESENTATIVES

PORTLAND, Oct. 1.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

In your issue of Thursday morning last occurs a local item anent the awarding of the above contract, which is calculated to mislead those ignorant of the true facts in the case and to carry the impression that the contract was awarded in the best interests of the state. To correct any such impression and to open the eyes of the taxpayers as to how state funds are extravagantly, to put it mildly, misspent, I wish to call your attention to certain facts in connection with the action of the board of public building commissioners in giving this contract.

On the 14th of September at Salem the board, consisting of Gov. Moody, Secretary of State [illegible] and Treasurer Hirsch, opened the bids for furnishing Representative hall in the capitol building at Salem. There were but two bidders and their figures were as follows:

Oregon Furniture Manufacturing Co.—
Plan No. 1, in walnut ... $[illegible]
Plan No. [illegible], in walnut ... [illegible]
Plan No. 3, in walnut ... [illegible]

G. Shindler & Co.—
Plan No. 1, in walnut ... [illegible]
Plan No. [illegible], in walnut ... [illegible]

The board took the bids under advisement together with the plans and designs accompanying them, and I will mention in passing, that the designs submitted by the Oregon Furniture company were gotten up by their foreman and entirely disregarded proportions and decorative harmonies, the desks for instance being but two feet ten inches long, dimensions thoroughly out of keeping with a room of that size. On the other hand the plans submitted by Shindler & Co. were designed by the architect who planned the room itself, than whom, it would seem, no one could be better fitted to determine what style of furniture would best harmonize with the surroundings. In addition, suggestions as to what was required were given him and he was allowed the largest liberty in making a design that would produce the most pleasing effect and be the most commodious. That he succeeded can be proven by the most casual inspection of his plans. They showed a completely furnished throughout, chairs, desks, carvings, etc., complete to every particular. The furniture company on the contrary furnished designs for only about one-half of the work, and a cheap lot of chairs.

Well, after two weeks of consideration [illegible] of the board, etc., without any decision, Mr. Kapus, the secretary of the Oregon Furniture company, evidently feeling anxious in the matter, goes up to Salem and calls the board together Tuesday last for the purpose of altering his bid on plan No. 1, which he is allowed to do, contrary to all principles of justice and common sense. He [illegible] his bid from the original amount [illegible] a [illegible] down of about $1500, and upon these figures his company is awarded the contract over another bidder whose figures were $[illegible], being some $1100 less, and not $750 as stated in your columns, and whose designs and plans were superior in every respect. By what method the board arrived at its determination to ignore the best [illegible] is [illegible] the successful bid. This, however, is not the first time the furniture company has succeeded in getting in their hooks on state contracts to the exclusion of equally competent bidders. In the furnishing of the state [illegible] the [illegible] 1886 [illegible] but this company was given the job and furnished desks at $[illegible] each, which cost but $[illegible] to build, and on everything else their profits were proportionately large. To use a popular phrase, their [illegible] seem to be [illegible] in the [illegible] when they can afford to throw off $500 from their original bid and still make money [illegible]. Of course I would not like to insinuate that the machinery they employ [illegible] but it looks this way. [illegible] Another fact which is suspicious [illegible] is the confidence the company had in securing the contract, namely, [illegible] days before the bids were opened, without any extraordinary [illegible] in the furniture market they began hiring numbers of extra men so as to be prepared to execute the contract which they knew they would obtain. Now, both of these competing firms are home institutions and it does not seem right that one should be given the preference over the other in all state work, and especially at a greater cost to the state, as has been done in several instances. It is but just also to the taxpayers of the state that public funds should be economically administered, but such evident jobs as this furniture contract would seem to indicate that the officers whose duty it is to guard the treasury are either asleep or indifferent to the duties of their offices. Let us trust it is nothing worse.

THE COURTS.

STATE CIRCUIT COURT—No. 1.

O'Shea Bros. vs. Haas Bros.; ordered that plaintiff have leave to file amended complaint. Plaintiffs brought suit against defendants August 1[illegible] last, to recover $700 on a promissory note executed April 20, 1885, payable in ninety days. Defendants filed a demurrer to the complaint on the ground that facts sufficient were not stated to constitute a cause of action, as the complaint did not state that J. F. and John O'Shea were doing business as O'Shea Bros.

Gerdes & Botefuhr vs. George C. Sears; motion to vacate judgment, to dismiss proceedings, and to substitute Stott & Stott and W. J. [illegible] as attorneys for defendant in place of Frank V. Drake, taken under advisement, and trial of case postponed until October 4.

FOREIGN DISPATCHES

The Eastern Situation Full of Danger for Europe.

OPINION ON TISZA'S SPEECH.

A Gift by the Duke d'Aumale to France—A Republican Manifesto to the People of Spain—Old World Notes.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Times London cable: Lights are burning in the foreign office long after midnight, and the papers all have leaders declaring that the situation is more serious than it has been at any time since the abdication of Prince Alexander. Premier Tisza's answer to the diet is said to have been wildly applauded by the Hungarians, as well it might have been, for bolder words from an Austrian dignitary have not been spoken since Sadowa. The declaration seems to render it impossible for Austria to back down an inch or refuse to make Herr Tisza's words good; yet it amounts to a guarantee that Gen. Kaulbars would not be allowed to do precisely the things he has placarded all Sofia with as his intentions to do. Unless Russia backs down and recalls Gen. Kaulbars, it is difficult to see how a collision is to be avoided. Nobody believes that Russia will back down.

It is significant that Turkey is massing troops at Adrianople as earnestly as if war had really begun. She is also said to be hard at work fortifying Armenia.

Later dispatches from Vienna report an extremely excited feeling there. At Pesth the general impression is that Russia will force matters to an issue at once. There seems to be no doubt that the Bulgarians will stand firm in defiance of Russia, now that Austria is at her back, and events are likely to go on now at a stirring pace.

Extensive telegraphing is going on from the foreign office. I learn a project is on foot here to start a popular subscription for a sword of honor to be presented to Prince Alexander.

NOTES FROM SOFIA.

SOFIA, Oct. 1.—Gen. Kaulbars's moderation is due to a telegram from M. Deglers to the effect that Russia did not wish to interfere with the Bulgarian constitution, or with domestic affairs.

Several officers arrested for participation in the revolution have been released on parole.

M. Stambuloff has informed Gen. Kaulbars that he himself and all the ministers and regents are willing to give pledge that Alexander will not be re-elected.

The inquiry into the revolution has been concluded. The sobranje will be asked to empower a court-martial to try the offenders. It is reported that three ex-ministers are implicated. The accused will, with exception of the leaders, be dealt with leniently.

GIVES GENERAL SATISFACTION.

PESTH, Oct. 1.—Herr von Tisza adopted the unusual course of reading his speech in the Hungarian parliament yesterday, and printed copies were given to the newspapers in order to avoid mistakes. The speech gives general satisfaction, although it is thought to be lacking in explicitness in regard to the government's relations with Germany. It is expected that the effect of the speech in Bulgaria will be to encourage the government to resist Russia.

ENGLAND SATISFIED.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—The Times this morning says: "England has good reason to be satisfied with the statements made by Herr Tisza in the Hungarian parliament yesterday, which indicate a point beyond which the Austro-German alliance cannot be strained without breaking."

The Moscow Gazette declares that thirty Bulgarians have been whipped to death for expressing sympathy with Russia's action in Bulgaria.

MOSCOW WANTS WAR.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 1.—The Novoe Vremya publishes a telegram from Moscow, which says: "The Bulgarian crisis has paralyzed trade and checked the revival of business, which good harvests had incited. Moscow is prepared for any eventuality. The present condition is as bad as ever, if not worse."

HOW IT IS INTERPRETED.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—Herr Tisza's speech in the Hungarian diet yesterday is interpreted at Pesth as meaning that Austria would remain neutral if Bulgaria should submit to Russia, but if Bulgaria should resist Russia that Austria would prevent the occupation of Bulgaria by Russia.

THE PEOPLE AGAINST RUSSIA.

SOFIA, Oct. 1.—People throughout the country have held meetings and adopted resolutions, begging the government to reject Gen. Kaulbars's demands.

APPROVED BY THE PRESS.

VIENNA, Oct. 1.—The entire press of Vienna approve of Premier Tisza's speech, made in the Hungarian parliament at Pesth yesterday.

ENGLAND.

SOLOMON IN COURT.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—The case of Edward Solomon, husband of Lillian Russell, arrested for bigamy on complaint of his first wife, Lily Grey, came up for hearing yesterday. Testimony was given that when he was first taken into custody Solomon admitted he was married to Lillian Russell in New Jersey, and said, "Anyhow, we went through some ceremony." It was shown, however, that he had also said at the same time that when he married Lillian he was unaware that his first wife was living, as he had neither seen nor heard of her for several years. Solomon was remanded, pending the arrival from the United States of a number of witnesses whose attendance has been secured. The magistrate refused Solomon's request for a reduction of bail.

THE NEWMARKET MEETING.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—This was the fourth day of the Newmarket meeting. The race for the Rous memorial stakes for two-year-olds was won by J. Winter's filly Caller Herrin by a neck, Lord Falmouth's colt Blanchlands second, R. H. Comber's colt Pierrepont third. There were eleven starters. The Duke of Beaufort's filly Reve d'Or was favorite.

BULWER GOING TO ULSTER.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—Bulwer will proceed to Ulster next Saturday. He has been invested with powers similar to those given to Sir Redvers Buller in county Kerry.

FRANCE.

NOTES FROM PARIS.

PARIS, Oct. 1.—A French member of the Egyptian debt commission has addressed to the powers a strong protest against the manner in which the English are using the funds raised by the last loan guaranteed by the powers.

In the course of his remarks at Montpellier yesterday Prime Minister De Freycinet said the main object to be considered now was the economic progress of the country. Thanks to the increased revenue derived from taxation he hoped the Atlantic and Mediterranean canal scheme might be speedily carried into effect. He also repeated his appeal for republican unity.

PARIS, Oct. 1.—The French chambers have been summoned to assemble on October 14.

President Grevy has sanctioned a credit of $240,000 for encouragement of French sea fisheries.

A GIFT BY THE DUKE D'AUMALE.

PARIS, Oct. 1.—The will of Duc d'Aumale, bequeathing his great estates at Chantilly with all their appurtenances, works of art, books and revenues, to the French institute in trust for the people of France forever, is dated in 1884. The duke explains that his wishes are to have the transfer made now, for the express purpose of avoiding legal proceedings which might be instituted by claimants or his heirs after his death. The gift is accompanied by but one condition, that is, the property must be preserved intact as it shall be on the day it comes into the possession of the trustees.

SPAIN.

A REPUBLICAN MANIFESTO.

MADRID, Oct. 1.—A manifesto to the Spanish people, signed "Enrique de Borbon, Duke de Seville," is being circulated in Spain. The document, which was published in Tarbes, France, is dated September 28. In it the duke, who is under imprisonment for having attempted to force his way into the queen's presence while he was on military duty at the palace, shortly after King Alfonso's death, complains that he is harshly treated in prison. He also declares that although he is a republican by birth and at heart, he loyally served his cousin, King Alfonso, so long as he was alive, because family duty made such service imperative. "Now," says the manifesto, "that King Alfonso is dead, all that is at an end, and I desire to assist in proclaiming a republic for Spain. A republic is the only form of government that can furnish a guarantee for the security and integrity of the country."

CANADA.

WIGGINS INSISTS HE WAS RIGHT.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—The Ottawa correspondent of the Times says: Wiggins is loth to admit that he has blundered. He insists that a storm passed Quebec on its southern journey over the gulf, and says if people will only wait they will have enough of it.

White teeth, sweet breath, a fragrant mouth,
There are no charms surpassing these;
Abroad, at home, east, west, north and south,
These three prime charms are sure to please.
All those who SOZODONT apply
Will have these charms—take heed and try.

London advices of September 11 report the trade in salmon, both wholesale and retail, as buying sparingly and only for actual requirements. The country has been gratuitously supplied with one of the series of anonymous pamphlets headed "Salmon," and containing alarming statements as to short supply. Liverpool reports of about the same date say that after the heavy sales just previously reported there had been less doing, although a week's sales had been highly satisfactory, and the market maintained a firm attitude.

EGGS—Some sales at 25c but 22½c is quoted. Receipts are increasing.

HOGS—A few dressed coming but there is little or no request. The weather is yet warm for packing.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Government bonds were dull but strong. State bonds were neglected. The confidence existing in higher prices for stocks last evening was shaken this morning by the industrious circulation of the story that the Pennsylvania road had withdrawn from the trunk line pool. Another rumor was started that Commissioner Fink had resigned his position as commissioner of the pool, but it was afterwards learned that he had resigned as arbitrator only. Rumors and news, such as it was, caused a pressure to sell, the sentiment on the board having undergone a sudden change, and room traders sold everything, keeping downward the movement. With the exception of a slight rally toward 11 o'clock, the decline was almost continuous until the afternoon. A slight rally was followed by another decline, which was checked after 12 o'clock and became generally firm, slight fractions being regained. It closed firm, close to the lowest of the day.

Mining shares were dull. Sales: Hale & Norcross $1, California and Virginia $2 45, Bulwer $1 80, Bodie $2 70, North Belle Isle $2 10@2 15.

A Valuable Remedy.

Brandreth's Pills have been used by millions of human beings. Their success is founded upon the theory of reason, and an attentive observation of symptoms of disease. Whatever makes bad digestion breeds disease, and whatever makes good digestion cures disease. Brandreth's Pills make good digestion purify the blood, and remove all bad humors out of the body by the organs of the stomach and bowels. They act in harmony with vital action and work nutrition; the strength increases, the skin and the eye becomes clear, and the symptoms of the malady are surely rendered milder by their use. They are harmless for all ages and conditions.

DR. JOHN BULL'S
FEVER and AGUE
Or CHILLS and FEVER,
AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.
The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of KENT'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient. Use no other.

Cancer of the Tongue.
My wife, some three or four years ago, was troubled with an ulcer on the side of her tongue near the throat. The pain was incessant, causing loss of sleep and producing great nervous prostration. Accompanying this trouble was rheumatism. It had passed from the shoulders and centered in the wrist of one hand, she almost losing the use of it between the suffering of the two, life had grown burdensome. By the use of a half dozen small sized bottles of Swift's Specific, she was entirely relieved and restored to health. This was three years ago, and there has been no return of the disease.

McArthur, United States attorney, against the following described merchandise, viz: One hundred and sixty cans of prepared opium and one tin of prepared opium, which by Mr. F. N. Shurtleff, collector of customs for the collection district of Willamette, on the 30th day of August, 1886, were seized as forfeited to the use of the United States, for the reasons and causes in the said libel of information mentioned, and praying the usual process and monition of the said court in that behalf to issue, and that all persons interested in the said merchandise may be cited to answer the premises, and all due proceedings being had, that the said property above mentioned may, for the causes in said libel of information mentioned, be condemned as forfeited to the use of the United States, according to the form of the statute in such case made and provided. Therefore, by virtue of the said monition under the seal of the said court to me directed and delivered, I do hereby give notice unto all persons claiming the said merchandise, or knowing or having anything to say why the same shall not be condemned as forfeited to the use of the United States, pursuant to the prayer of the said libel of information, that they be and appear before the said District Court on Monday, the [illegible] day of October, 1886, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, if the same shall be a day of jurisdiction, otherwise on the next day of jurisdiction thereafter, then and there to interpose a claim for the same and to make their allegations in that behalf.
